He had put his sister and mother in fearful danger, and himself, and enjoy battles of wits with wizards, "splitting arguments with a forked tongue." Like human beings, "But I will come, master!" he said. And then after a pause, "How soon?" And after a longer pause, he told the air something in a language the ship's captain did not understand, and made a gesture that darkened the air about him for an instant. guess and made one quick gesture toward the stone tower. "Let me in, mother," he whispered in the tongue that was as old as the hill. The ground shivered a little and opened. There will I go. In about 650, the sisters Elehal and Yahan of Roke, Medra the Finder, and other people of the Hand. "But we met, we sat, and we could not choose. We said this and said that, but no name was spoken. And then I..." He paused a while. There came on me what my people call the eduevanu, the other breath. Words came to me and I spoke them. I said, Hama Gondun! And Kuremkarmerruk told them this in Hardic: "A woman on Gont." But when I came back to my own wits, I could not tell them what that meant. And so we parted with no Archmage chosen. Mountain, echoing round from north to south, dying away in the cloud-filled forests. human beings with a powerful gift of magic, or through the ancient kinship of humans and dragons, wide enough. She stood up and after a moment walked out of the stableyard, off across the hill, on the path that went around it halfway up. One of the dogs, her favorite, a big, ugly, heavy-headed hound, followed her. She stopped on the slope above the marshy spring where Rose had named her ten years ago. She stood there; the dog sat down beside her and looked up at her face. No thought was clear in her mind, but words repeated themselves: I could go to Roke and find out who I am. He broke free, stood up, stooping; neither of them could stand straight in the low cabin. had seen something, something impossible to see, and it was of this that she sang. I was afraid. He turned and made for the shore, hasty, careless where he set his feet and not caring if he broke. Each True Rune has a significance, a connotation or area of meaning, which can be more or less. "I don't see why," she said. "My mother can cure a fever and ease a childbirth and find a lost ring, maybe that's nothing compared to what the wizards and the dragonlords can do, but it's not nothing, all the same. And she didn't give up anything for it. Having me didn't stop her. She had me so that she could learn how to do it! Just because I learned how to play music from you, did I have to give up saying spells? I can bring a fever down now too. Why should you have to stop doing one thing so you can do the other?" "I was born in Havnor and trained as a shipwright and a sorcerer. I was on a ship bound from Geath to O Port. I was spared alone from drowning, last night, when a witchwind struck." He was silent then. The thought of the ship and the chained men in her swallowed his mind as the black sea had swallowed them. He gasped, as if coming up from drowning. and he went with them himself four times; but swords and arrows were little use against armored. Among these people was an old man whom they called, among themselves, the Changer. He showed Otter. "I told them," he said, "that if they went out Medra's Gate this day, they'd never go back through it into a House they knew. Some of them were for turning back, then. But the Windkey and the Chanter urged them on. They'll be along soon."
