

D DALCANTARA OU LA VALLEE DE RONCEVEAUX PAR MME BARTHELEMY HADO

Thoreg's high priest, Intathin, opposing any truce or settlement, challenged Erreth-Akbe to a duel. Ivory, had been all too unprotected. If anybody was under a spell of chastity it must have been. "Well, he can't lift the murrain all at once. But seems like he can cure a beast if he gets to it. His head hurt again, and he whimpered and shivered, trying to draw himself together for warmth. Mostly the pupil was supposed to be with the Master, or studying the lists of names in the room. The poem begins with the best known and most cherished love story in the Archipelago, that of Morred and Elfarran. In the third year of his reign, the young king went south to the largest island of the Archipelago, Havnor, to settle disputes among the city-states there. Returning in his "oarless longship," he came to the island Solea and there saw Elfarran, the Islewoman or Lady of Solea, "in the orchards in the spring." He did not continue on to Enlad, but stayed with Elfarran. To pledge his troth he gave her a silver bracelet or arm ring, the treasure of his family, on which was engraved a unique and powerful True Rune. The food of dragons is said to be light, or fire; they kill in rage, to defend their young, or for sport, but never eat their kill. Since time immemorial, until the reign of Heru, they had used only the outmost isles of the West Reach-which may have been the easternmost borders of their own realm-for meeting and breeding, and had seldom even been seen by most of the islanders. Naturally irritable and arrogant, the dragons may have felt threatened by the increasing population and prosperity of the Inner Lands, which brought constant boat traffic even out in the West Reach. For whatever the reason, in those years they made increasing raids, sudden and random, on flocks and herds and villagers of the lonely western isles. and cruelty.
