"Not a soul." light-velocity, activated the tardyon-tachyon conversion system and popped back into normal space in. An alarm started in his helmet, flat and strangely soothing coming from the tiny speaker. He stood by tears rake fingers across the sky. It is an old, old song: together, exchanging nostalgic tidbits over coffee and slices of Partyland's famous pineapple pie. At Palmas, dropped a large Manila envelope in the mailbox (the story he'd been working on, I guess), and. "I've met her friends." color of parrot's feathers, a yellow as pale as Chinese mustard, and a blue brilliant as the sky at eight. "All right. You retrieve the program for it, punch it in, and idly watch a random sampling, back into time, first me. relaxed and resumed her stroll around the room. She turned to Crawford again. "No, I am not saying that SP3 could be modified from a robot craft to carry a human crew. The design could not feasibly be modified at this late stage. Too many things would have to be thought out again from the beginning, and such a task would require decades. And yet, nothing comparable to SP3 is anywhere near as advanced a stage of design at the present time, let alone near being constructed. The opportunity is unique and cannot, surely, be allowed to pass by. But at the same time we cannot afford the delay that would be needed to take advantage of that opportunity. Is there a solution to this dilemma?" He looked around as if inviting responses. None came. In this, the twenty-third volume in a series, I have continued the practice begun in number 22 of including non-fiction material from F&SF's regular departments. The aim is to provide readers of these anthologies with something like a very good and very big issue of the magazine. Thus we offer a fascinating article by Joanna Russ on the pain of reviewing sf books, Baird Searles on "multiples" in sf films, Isaac Asimov on cloning, and a sampling from our competitions. "Isn't he the one who was killed in an accident last night?" so high that the North Wind lives in a cave there. The second piece of the mirror is on the highest peak of. Miss Tremaine looked up from her typing at the rattle and frowned. Her desk was out in the small reception area, but I had arranged both desks so we could see each other and talk in normal voices when the door was open. It stayed open most of the time except when I had a client who felt secretaries shouldn't know his troubles. She had been transcribing the Lucas McGowan report for half an hour, humphing and tsk-tsking at thirty-second intervals. She was having a marvelous time. Miss Tremaine was about forty-five, looked like a constipated librarian, and was the best secretary I'd ever had. She'd been with me seven years. I'd tried a few young and sexy ones, but it hadn't worked out. Either they wouldn't play at all, or they wanted to play all the time. Both kinds were a pain in the ass to face first thing in the morning, every morning. The thing was twenty centimeters long, almost round, and dome-shaped. I guess I don't trust you enough. Though you're quite likable; that's another matter." "Today the sustenance that our industries crave is not oil, but minerals. Fifty years from now our understanding of controlled-fusion processes will probably have eliminated that source of shortages too, but in the meantime shorter sighted political considerations are recreating the climate of tension and rivalry that hinged around the oil issue at the close of the last century. Obviously, South Africa's importance in this context is shaping the current pattern of power maneuvering, and the probable flashpoint for another East-West collision will again be the Iran-Palestine border region, which our strategists expect the Soviets to contest to gain access to the Indian Ocean in preparation for the support of a war of so-called black African liberation against the South." He glanced at the replica of the star-robot probe again. "SP3 now has a name. It has been named after a goddess of Chinese mythology whom we have adopted as a fitting patroness: Kuan-yn--the goddess who brings children. Let us hope that she watches over her children well in the years to come." Each of us adds to the other's pleasure, and it's better than the other times. But even when she comes, she stares through me, and I wonder whose face she's seeing? no, not even that: how many faces she's seeing. Babe, no man can fill me like they do..2. "That's fine, but there is an even more important order of business. We have to go out to the dome and find out what the hell caused the blowout. The next night he was off to Partyland, a 23rd St. speakeasy that advertised heavily on late-night TV. As he beaded back to the Federal Communications Building, his senses seemed to register all the ordinary details of the city's streets with an unnatural, hyped clarity: the smell of sauerkraut steaming up from a hot dog cart, the glint of the noon sun on the mica mixed into the paving blocks of the sidewalk, the various shapes and colors of the pigeons, the very pigeons, perhaps, that had inspired bis so-called idea earlier that day.
